For [illegible] suicide [illegible] charge of a relative who remained [illegible] themselves and it was [illegible] watched [illegible] people whose minds [illegible] Mr. King, recently [illegible] the morning of [illegible] 11th [illegible] house while his com[illegible] the next that was hour [illegible] A man [illegible] singularly [illegible] remarkable [illegible] Mr. King is greatly missed. [illegible] kindnesses [illegible] became depressed in mind [illegible] grant any favor which was asked of him.

There has been no appointment yet to fill the vacancy. Mr. Clinch who has been Assistant [illegible] twenty five years [illegible] the post [illegible] But there has been an immense [illegible] canvassing of the claims of various candidates, among whom are Mr. Van Dyke the present sub-treasurer, Mr. [illegible] Chauncey M. Depew, Isaac Sherman and others [illegible] the day of Mr. King's death, the Astor House was thronged and has been daily since the [illegible] with politicians who have each and all [illegible] the Warwick of the Custom House. Their haste has doubtless been regarded as indecently by the President as it is by the public at large.

GENERAL GRANT

Has been spending a week in New York and has charmed everybody who has met him by the [illegible] simplicity of his manners. He has visited all sorts of places the opera, theatres, club houses, jewelry stores, race courses etc., rode [illegible] Bonner's $10,000 team, and became a [illegible] and has been very much pleased with the sights of New York. To-night a reception [illegible] at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Some 600 persons are in attendance. The military officers were presented by Gen. Hooker to General and Mrs. Grant, then the naval officers, and next the foreign consuls and guests. To-morrow the Lieutenant General returns to Washington. He will be escorted down Broadway at 2 o'clock, by the Seventh Regiment which will turn out one thousand men. The General will ride in an open barouche accompanied by other distinguished gentlemen among whom it is unnecessary to state that [illegible] Johnston, who is now in the city will [illegible] appear. Among other visitors received by General Grant at the Metropolitan Hotel was a delegation of about fifty gentlemen from the Pacific States. In talking with them about the Pacific Railroad the General said he expected to see it completed within five years.

THE FENIAN EXCITEMENT

reached fever heat in Toronto on last Wednesday night. During the day General Napier commanding the troops there was warned by Government officials to be prepared for an attack of the Fenians before the next morning and immediately military preparations commenced, and all through the night the streets of the usually quiet town resound with the rumble of artillery wagons, the clatter of cavalry, the clanking of sabres and the tramp of infantry. A correspondent describes the place as presenting almost the aspect of a besieged city, cannoniers standing by their pieces, riflemen lying on their arms and civilians sleeping or walking the principal thoroughfares with pistols and bludgeons in their hands, in momentary expectation of the sudden apparition of the invisible Fenian army. Morning, however dawned with [illegible] the dreaded spectre having [illegible] its appear[illegible] The citizens have consequently breathed more freely since but still the military arrangements to meet an attack are continued. It is said that the example set by the Canadian Orangemen in arming themselves is being followed to a considerable degree by the Catholics. A Montreal correspondent states that the troops heretofore re[illegible] [illegible] out from England amount to [illegible] battalions. The Canadian Finance Minister stated in a recent speech that if the province should be annexed to the United States [illegible] share of our national debt would be three hundred millions of dollars.

THE FRENCH CANADIANS

have been holding a meeting in this city to form an association which shall extend throughout the United States and hold an annual convention. Though the matter is not mentioned outwardly there is little doubt that the object is to forward what is regarded by many as inevitable in time [illegible] annexation of Canada into the United States [illegible] and intelligent Canadian say only a few [illegible] that such an event will happen inside [illegible] years and if Canada could be put on the [illegible] regards her debt and terms, [illegible] Canada [illegible] people and a debt of [illegible] We have 30,000,000 of [illegible] 3,000,000 [illegible] debt. If a satisfactory apportionment can be made there is little [illegible] a large majority of the Canadians would vote for annexation. Their interest lies [illegible] those who have [illegible] such in reason [illegible] [illegible] British Canadians are [illegible]

THE [illegible] MINES

[illegible] with [illegible] College has been in[illegible] the object of the [illegible] furnish [illegible] students the means of acquiring a thorough [illegible] and practical knowledge [illegible] the mineral resources of this country [illegible] engaged in mining and metallurgical operations persons competent to take charge [illegible] he appears necessary [illegible] the subjects alluded [illegible] specimens in the [illegible] five thousand [illegible] make the [illegible] With [illegible] now expected in about four years [illegible] will be opened [illegible] persons engaged [illegible] and there will be plenty [illegible] all who theoretically and [illegible] the methods of developing the [illegible] resources of the country.

THE CHARTER ELECTION

Is rapidly approaching ([illegible] of December) and the [illegible] on all sides. We are [illegible] corporations, annual nominations, twenty-four councilmen and a batch of school commissioners and school inspectors. Two candidates for mayor are [illegible] in the field, the present Mayor, Gunther, being one and John Hecker [illegible] the nominee of the McKeon [illegible] the Democracy and of the [illegible] organization. Hecker is his own nominee [illegible] his own account, has [illegible] over the city with a large [illegible] big enough [illegible] crowd out of if the proper time comes before the election or after the election when it is discovered that Hecker is only a corporal's guard of votes. The Tammany and Mozart men are talking of nominating John [illegible] Hoffman but [illegible] supposed to be put out to pull the chestnuts [illegible] the fire for Fernando Wood. Before the election it is fully expected that Wood will be [illegible] the field. The Republicans have not yet made a nomination, but it matters little what they do now they have only to put forward an unexceptionable candidate to carry off the Mayoralty. For Corporation Counsel Richard O'Gorman has been nominated by the [illegible] much [illegible] to the disgust of the [illegible] Poor John McKeon, he has got up a party only to be overslaughed in the house of his friends. For the minor offices there will be a host of candidates.

The Fenians now have a headquarters in this city on a grand scale. The officers of the Fenian Brotherhood have taken the Moffatt mansion on 17th street opposite the upper end of Union square, noted as one of the largest and most splendid family residences in the United States. It was built by [illegible] B. Moffat, the celebrated pill maker. It is a five story brown stone building, 50 by 100 feet in dimensions and [illegible] in the most [illegible] manner. There are little gardens in front and at [illegible] servants apartments and other outbuildings in the rear. The inner decoration is magnificent, with frescoes, carvings, statues and paintings and the first story doors, which are of solid rosewood cost an average of $250 each. The great glass folding doors of the reception room cost $2,000. On the first floor are the [illegible] rooms. The President and other officers occupy the second floor, and the [illegible] the third story. The upper portion of the building consists of small chambers [illegible] sleeping apartments by the clerks. The grand formal opening was made to-night.

HANCOCK'S CORPS

There has been considerable talk in the newspapers about the [illegible] of Hancock's corps to the frontier. As I have said, there [illegible] truth in it. Detached companies have been sent to the various places in the [illegible] States where troops are to be mustered out as for instance, yesterday a company of military men passed through here en route to New Haven where some colored troops have been sent to be discharged. The citizens of New Haven sent to Washington for assistance, stating that the negroes were making a good deal of disturbance and that they feared riotous demonstrations. And the company in question was ordered there. Such things as this is the foundation of the stories that Hancock's corps is going to the frontier.

MEXICO

Between the announcement of some Liberal successes in Mexico, the appointment of a new minister to that country in the person of General Logan, the utterances of the new ambassador and of General Grant, and the issue of the new loan, Mexican matters are beginning to be of interest. The Lieutenant General does not say much but what he does say is to the point. His remarks at the Union League club the other night in reply to an address by Vice President Bellman approving the sentiment of the latter that "Such a wrong had never outraged human annals than the present French occupation of Mexico—we sympathize with our sister republic in the day of her adversity, and firmly believe in her coming deliverance—a Mexican Grant will yet rest on his country, as you have [illegible] were brief but extremely pointed. He said "There is one sentiment [illegible] [illegible] in the future of Mexico." There have been longer and more [illegible] speeches than this but [illegible] point. Maximilian will understand [illegible] also, for it is a plain warning for the French to leave Mexico and for the latter to take away his troops.

The appointment of Gen. Logan is even more significant than Gen. Grant's speech. He is one of the most decided [illegible] of the Monroe doctrine, as will be seen by the following extract from a speech delivered in Brooklyn on the evening [illegible] Nov[illegible]

So far as I am concerned, I believe that Maximilian with [illegible] the spirit and [illegible] of the rebellion against [illegible] [Cheers.] [illegible] part of the rebellion [illegible] government of the United States [illegible] Maximilian "Sir, you must pack up your duds and travel." [Laughter and [illegible] tremendous outburst of cheering.] [illegible] government has not suppressed the rebellion [illegible] [That's so.] [illegible] that state to Maximilian [illegible] of saying to him [illegible] believe in to take possession of that country and to attempt to establish [illegible] out you to stay there [illegible] that country and leave it to [illegible]

ASSISTANCE FOR THE SOUTH

A public meeting on behalf of the Southern people of all classes in need of assistance will be held at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, to-morrow evening. Addresses will be made by [illegible] Dr. Storrs, and the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Other gentlemen have been invited to be present, among them Chief-Justice Chase and Gen. Fisk. The object of the meeting is not merely the temporary relief of the Southern people but that measures may be taken for the permanent benefit of all classes of that section of the country.

LARGE SEIZURE OF COUNTERFEIT CURRENCY

Detectives R. R. Lowell and H. A. Otto, of the Treasury Department, have arrested an expert [illegible] Charles J. Roberts, and [illegible] dollars in unfinished fifty cent counterfeit currency notes. It is said that Roberts has been engaged in counterfeiting during the past two years. The unfinished notes, together with press, plates, printing paper, ink, [illegible] and gold bronze were seized in Philadelphia. Much of the counterfeiting business was done in Brooklyn, but notice having reached Roberts' confederates the notes and implements in that city were removed before the officers could seize them.

George Stephenson, one of the survivors of Dr. Kane's Arctic expedition in search of Sir John Franklin, died on Thursday last, and the remains were interred at Greenwood on Saturday. Mr. Stephenson was born in Dublin in September 1[illegible]7. He became an able seaman and possessed a genial social disposition. While in the Arctic his heart became affected and he has always suffered from it. Here he was given a situation as night inspector in the Custom house and held it till he died. Dr. Hayes and Captain W. W. Wilson are the only survivors of the Kane Arctic Expedition.

Portland Dec. 9th 1865. d[illegible]

Notice to all Persons having Demands on the Government.

PENSIONS, BOUNTY, PRIZE-MONEY, PATENTS, Pay for Vouchers, Scrip, Back Pay, Lost Horses and Spoliation Claims obtained by the undersigned, who will attend to all other business before the Departments at Washington City.

Soldiers becoming disabled or [illegible] while in the service, are entitled to a Pension. Those who served in any war previous to the 30th of March, 1855, are entitled to Bounty Land. Those who served in the Navy during the late war, and were legally attached to a vessel or [illegible] duty, although not participating in the taking of prizes, are entitled to Prize Money. In many Indian Treaties provision is made for payment of Spoliation Claims out of Annuities. To collect the large number of such claims now owned in this country,—for the settlement of which no similar provision has been made by treaty—demand should be made at once therefor at the proper Department and, if found just, recommendation will be made to Congress to pass an act retaining the amount thereof out of the Annuities.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

MONDAY MORNING DECEMBER 25, 186

Christmas

The morning trumpets festival proclaimed.—Milton

There is no holiday which is kept universally through all the Christian world. Its dawn greets us again. All the world makes merry and is glad. From the bleak mountains of Norway to the sunny skies and happy fields of Italy, from the proud city of the Czar to the humble home of the [illegible] peasant throughout England, the mother of our free civilization and from the eastern to the western confines of America, the land to which freedom was transplanted, and in which it finds its happiest home, this day is kept as a festival. The celebration of this day by common consent and for a common purpose by the civilized world exerts its influence upon the great heart of mankind, and cannot but teach men to remember that ours is but one great brotherhood since each member of the human race is alike interested in the event which the joyousness of this day is intended to commemorate.

For the most part, it is among those of "homely joys and destiny obscure" that the coming of Christmas is hailed with the greatest delight. Theirs is a peculiar gladness. Shall "grandeur say with a disdainful smile," that the peasant in the midst of his simple luxuries, and made glad by the mirth that surrounds him, is a less worthy or a less favored person than he who wears a crown?

The old Druids used to deck houses and chapels at Christmas with evergreens. It was an old belief that sylvan spirits might flock to the evergreens and remain unnipped by frost until a milder season. Not to continue the rule of a blind superstition, but to keep alive those sensibilities and emotions which under the reign of a calculative philosophy are perishing away, we might wish that we could still invest Christmas scenes with the interest that belonged to them in the olden time. But though we cannot now see in the laurel, the rosemary and the ivy, the qualities they were then fabled to possess, we can see in the nativity itself far more of promise for man than was beheld by those upon whose minds those simple beliefs of the early ages wrought with so great a power.

WHAT IT MEANS.—A great many politicians and newspapers of the North, chiefly those who were once either too timid to resort to arms to save the Union, or too much infected with the poison of treason to sanction anything which the Government did to insure its preservation—are now declaring that we must "trust the people of the South," which means that we must again place confidence in, and restore power to, those who have already repeatedly perjured themselves, who brought on the rebellion, and who have slaughtered our loyal countrymen. The oft repeated phrase, "we must trust the South," means furthermore that every rebel must be pardoned, and the loyalists, white and black, of every Southern State, be left to be dealt with according to the pleasure of their enemies. It means too, that traitors who have tried to destroy this Government are now to be empowered to legislate as they please against those who fought to save it—that the old system of oppression, or a worse one, is to be practised upon the blacks—that the tyranny of the old oligarchy, heightened to a tenfold degree through the motives of revenge that always find a lodgment in the breasts of those who are capable of deeds of savage violence, is to be established anew. This oligarchy should not be trusted with the power to make laws for the freedmen. When the slaves of the British West Indies were emancipated, it was proposed in Parliament to give their former masters the right and power to control them by such legislation as they (the masters) might see proper to impose. Said the statesman, George Canning, in protesting against this measure: "Men whose authority over others has been absolute, can never be trusted with this power so long as human nature remains as it is." We know not why it should be claimed for the late slaveholders of the South that they have a charter of exemption from the ordinary frailties of human nature. Cruelty is detestable; clemency is praiseworthy; but even clemency may be cruel. It was not clemency which Jonah was commanded to preach to the Ninevites; nor were they words of clemency which a greater than he pronounced against the people who rejected him. If we are to "trust the South" in all things—if every rebel is to be pardoned and all civil disabilities removed from those leaders who conspired and fought against the Government—it will pass the comprehension of most loyal people to discover how the doctrine is to be established that "treason is the greatest of crimes, and traitors must be made odious."

THE PORTAGE AT WILLAMETTE FALLS.—The People's Transportation Company have their works at Oregon City so nearly completed that the former difficulties and delays of making the portage around the falls will be experienced but a little longer. Indeed freight from both ways has already for some time been going through their new warehouse. Boats on the upper and lower river come so near each other as to almost meet—those in the basin above the falls lying just over those below. The apparatus for hoisting and lowering freight by the water power of the falls is nearly ready for use. The water wheel and gearing are completed, the inclined plane or ways on which the hoisting car is to run, are ready with the exception of the iron track or rails, and they will be supplied and laid during the present week. The basin answers excellently, the purpose for which it was designed. A day or two ago we saw two boats pass down into it without difficulty, and apparently without danger. Besides the large warehouse built just outside of the basin at the lower end, another building has been erected at the water's edge on the river below. Boats lie alongside of this and receive or discharge their lading. Next summer the warehouse, though now of great size, is to be still further enlarged. The dam by which the basin is formed is also to be extended further up the stream. When this is done, the work will be complete in all its parts and will be ranked as one of the most extensive and important improvements ever made in the State.

THE NEW JERSEY ELECTION.—The full significance of the late Union victory in New Jersey is made apparent by the following statements. In 1862 when the country was disheartened by the repeated defeats which our armies under McClellan sustained, the "Democratic" or "peace" majority in New Jersey was 11,597. In 1864 when the "Democrats" had a war candidate on a peace platform their majority was 7,29[illegible]. In 1865 when the issue was fairly made on the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery the Union majority is 2,147. The redemption of New Jersey on such an issue as that which on the two parties joined the present year gives us full assurance that New Jersey will steadily vote with the Union party hereafter.

MASONIC.—Jefferson Lodge No. 13 has elected the following officers for the ensuing Masonic year: A. Gray, W. M.; J. C. Ducky, S. W.; Charles Miller, J. W.; H. A. Johnson, Treas.; Jacob Conser, Sec'y; J. A. Pamsobaker, Tyler; [illegible] A. Orner, S. D.; John Looney, J. D.

WEALTH AND POVERTY.—'Tis of little use for a man pinched with poverty for three score years, to get rich then—to obtain luxurious food when he has lost the teeth to eat with.

Letter from Senator Williams

THE MAIL FROM PORTLAND TO FOREST GROVE—APPOINTMENTS RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13, 1865

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I write to request, through your paper, those persons who propose to bid for the mail route from Portland by the way of Hillsboro and Forest Grove to Lafayette to accompany their bid for the route as advertised with a bid for a semi-weekly service on the same route, going to Centerville in Washington county. I think a semi-weekly service on said route, with the establishment of a new post office at Centerville, can be procured. Meanwhile I would ask the present contractor to write me what further compensation he will require to perform the above named additional service until the new letting takes effect on the 1st of next July.

Since my arrival here, up to within the last two weeks the rule of the War Department has been inflexible, not to make any appointments to the regular army from the volunteer force of the country. That rule has now been changed as to first and second lieutenants, and I have recommended Messrs. Catley, Waymire and Hopkins, for appointments. Yours truly,

GEO. H. WILLIAMS

SINGULAR CUSTOMS OF NEW ENGLAND.—Dr. Palfrey, in his History of New England makes it quite evident that this part of the country was not a pleasant place for evil doers to live in the early Puritanic times:

"The forger's doom was to stand in the pillory three several lecture days, and render double damages to the party wronged, and also be disabled to give any evidence or verdict to any court or magistrate. The burial place of a suicide was in the common highway, with a cart load of stones laid upon the grave as a brand of infamy. The profane swearer, in whose offense was not included irreverence toward God, but wicked cursing of any person forfeited ten shillings for a single oath; if he swore more oaths than one at a time before he removed out of the company in which he was, he swore at the cost of twenty shillings. Idlers, among whom were reckoned common coasters, unprofitable fowlers and tobacco takers, exposed themselves to the house of correction. It was punishable by a fine of five shillings to dance, or use the game of shuffle board or bowling or any other play in or about a house of entertainment, or to play a game for money or money's worth, or to observe any such day as Christmas and the like, and the bringing and keeping of cards or dice within the jurisdiction subjected the offender to a fine of five pounds. An attempt to draw away the affection of any maid under pretence of marriage, before obtaining liberty and allowance from her parents or governors, or, in absence of such, of the nearest magistrate, was punished by a forfeiture of five pounds. For a repetition of the attempt the culprit was fined ten pounds and compelled to enter into recognizance for better behavior. If still unreclaimed, he was, on conviction by the county court, committed to prison to remain there until the court of assistants should see cause to release him. No person whose wife or husband continued to live abroad was allowed to have a home in Massachusetts. No man might strike his wife, nor any woman her husband, on penalty of such fine, not exceeding ten pounds for one offense, or such corporal punishment as the county court should determine."

GENERAL GRANT'S GREAT SPEECH.—The Lieutenant General, it is well known, is not much given to oratory. In the first place, he has no special gift in that way, and in the second place, he is one of those people who believe in the old adage fatal to editors and spouters, that "the least said the soonest mended."

But General Grant can say what he wants to when there is occasion, and he found such an occasion last night at the Union League Club. The speaker, Beekman, appointed to receive him, after the usual formal compliments, said: "that fouler wrong had never outraged human annals than the present French occupation of Mexico. We sympathize with our sister republic in the day of her adversity, and firmly believe in her coming deliverance. A Mexican Grant will yet restore his country, as you have saved your own." To which the General made this most eloquent and forcible reply: "I hope you will excuse me from thanking you at any great length. But there is one sentiment uttered in your address, which is mine also. It is the one touching the future of Mexico." [Cheers.]

There have been longer speeches than this, there have been speeches more argumentative and ornate, but few more to the point. "When you talk about delivering Mexico," said the General, in his own quiet way, "count me in"—leaving history to explain the full significance of what he means by going in. Even the French usurper and liberticide is, we trust, sufficiently familiar with the English tongue to understand the force of the words.—N. Y. Post, Nov. 15th.

EDITORIAL COMPLIMENTS.—The San Francisco Bulletin of a late date gives the following. It will be understood that the Bulletin quotes the language of the Oregon Statesman and Democratic Review:

The Oregon editors appear to be an amiable set of mortals. The compliments they pay each other are absolutely excruciating. Thus one of them pays his respects to his "neighbor over the way" in such endearing terms as these: "Silliest lie we ever heard," "lies that a fool would not believe," "stupid falsehoods," "downright lying," "pointless blackguardisms," "set you down as a liar and a fool," "would steal acorns from a blind hog," etc., etc. Another presents his neighbor with this fragrant nosegay: "Poor simpleton," "writes nonsense," "has no brains," "ass in lion's skin," "give his worthless and cowardly carcass a kick," "beast." Has it ever occurred to these owners of foul epithets, as well as to some like them in California, that they not only degrade the profession of journalism but disgust the public?

SECRETARY SEWARD ON JEFF DAVIS.—A letter from New York to the Macon, (Ga.) Telegraph gives what purports to be a conversation between Thurlow Weed and Secretary Seward concerning Jeff Davis. We advise the reader not to invest very largely in the story:

Since I have introduced Mr. Seward's name, I will refer to a conversation he had a few days since with Thurlow Weed—Jefferson Davis being the subject. Weed said Mr. Davis should be hanged, and expressed himself quite warmly on the subject. Mr. Seward then propounded the query, "Why should you hang him?" to which Weed replied, "I would hang him for treason." Mr. Seward responded in his energetic way, "We cannot hang him without first convicting him, and I think no impartial jury would do that." Weed said, "His guilt is already established, and his conviction should not be difficult." but Mr. Seward maintained that no jury could be formed to convict him and added, in a significant way, "and even if we should hang him it would be no great moral lesson to the world." Gentlemen who were present during the conversation infer from it that Mr. Davis' life is safe at least.

The Louisville Journal says:

Extremists we are aware, will oppose the policy of pardoning everybody but haven't they opposed clemency from the beginning?

Wasn't the Journal when it wanted Kentucky to be "neutral," a distinguished advocate of clemency, for rebels, and hasn't it forced clemency from the beginning? Men of unflinching loyalty have been "opposed to clemency from the beginning" because they were determined to fight the war through and save the country. To properly punish rebels now that they have been compelled to throw down their arms, is as much the duty of the Government as it was to assail the rebel armies in the field.

A Copperhead paper says:

"The presence of colored troops in the South militates against the plan of conciliation. They ought to be removed. They are highly distasteful to the Southern people. If a vote were taken to-morrow we don't believe there would be a hundred ballots in any one Southern State in favor of their retention."

The last sentence expresses our own opinion. We don't believe that at any time for the last five years there would have been one hundred votes in any rebel State in favor of the retention of any troops there, white or black. That the Southern people want these soldiers removed, furnishes the strongest possible argument why they ought to remain.

STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The California Steam Navigation Company will dispatch the first steamer of their line to Honolulu on the 6th of January next. This line of communication is a most important as well as convenient one. The growth of commerce and the increase of passenger travel between the Islands and San Francisco demand a steamer line on this route, and there is no question that the returns will be lucrative. The Ajax will lead the way.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. [illegible], 1865.

Washington is remarkably dull and there is but little excitement in the country. It is but the lull that precedes the storm, however, for Congress will soon be here in all its glory, and when Congress comes there is sure to be excitement and bustle. Here and there I see a Congressman in advance of the main body, hunting for rooms and getting settled for the winter, but they are still rare upon the streets and in society. Senator John Sherman is here for the winter, keeping house in a nobby style. He is one of the best men in the Senate, a little conservative perhaps but always cautious and sagacious. He takes a prominent position in the Senate this winter in consequence of his well known ability upon the subject of finance. He has exchanged views with Secretary McCulloch and the two men agree that the policy of the Government must be one of active contraction for the future. New York seems to be mad over the discovery. The Secretary has been saying for six months that he must get rid of a portion of the currency. He made a speech reiterating his well known views at Fort Wayne a few weeks since, and yet the New Yorkers have slept right over it and did not seem to get the idea into their heads that the day was nearly approaching when the currency must be lowered in value. So for two or three days there has been something like a panic among business men in New York, not in the market so much as in men's minds. The papers have been full of projects to sustain the premium on gold without withdrawing any of the currency! Sober financiers present schemes for the consideration of the Treasury which are as ridiculous as they well can be. One man seriously proposes that gold shall be hoarded by the Government till $150,000,000 are saved—all being pledged to the redemption of the notes. It is gravely argued that this will take the gold premium down. It doesn't look so to me or to other plain men, who, however, do not profess to know over much about the finances. I hear from a reliable source that Mr. McCulloch is of the same opinion.

For the present the Secretary is quiet. When he will resume the funding process of the legal tender notes no one knows. The papers say on the first of next January but they have no authority for the statement—none whatever. The Pacific coast is interested to a certain extent, in this question. I suppose, so long as the Atlantic States ship goods and produce to California and Oregon. When we have a currency redeemable in gold, prices will grow moderate. At present, it pays any one to convert bank notes into gold at 147 and make a trip to Canada for the purchase of his clothes or anything else, then come through the Custom house, duty free.

The firm of Samuel Bowles & Co., of Springfield, Mass., will publish early in December a very interesting book by the senior member of the firm, entitled "Across the Continent." The full heads of the title page are as follows: "A Summer's Journey to the Rocky Mountains, the Mormons, and the Pacific States with Speaker Colfax."

Mr. Bowles addresses the following circular letter to a few of his friends:

"Mr. Colfax's Journey Across the Continent and his reception by the people of the Pacific States, have excited much interest among the people of the East, and I find that my letters describing them and the country visited, to the Republican, have been widely read and copied and that there is a general wish for their collection and publication in a volume. The publishers of the Republican, Samuel Bowles & Company, have accordingly determined to do so, and they will be issued about the 1st of December, in a neat volume of about 400 pages, including some additions, and changes from the original publication; also extracts from Mr. Colfax's speeches, an original paper on the mining interests of the Pacific States, by William Ashburner, Esq., mining engineer of San Francisco, and mineralogist to the California Geological Survey, and other matters of interest to a knowledge of the Western half of our continent."

The New York Times speaks of Mr. Bowles' letters as by far the most interesting that have ever been written from the Pacific coast. They will be of good service to the Pacific States in giving a just representation of their condition to Congress and to capitalists generally. The book above alluded to, will undoubtedly be sought after in Oregon and California, for we always like to see what a stranger thinks of us, especially if he is a man of brains, and good natured withal. Mr. Bowles is a man of fine talents and has the faculty of turning them to practical account. As everybody here knows, he has built up in a country town the very best paper in New England. His abilities were so well known in the city of New York ten years ago, that one of the morning dailies there offered him $5,000 per annum to come to Washington and take charge of its business here. He declined it and stuck to his own newspaper in Springfield, and in this too, he showed his sagacity.

Speaking of Washington correspondence reminds me of the fact that a few of the correspondents here make very liberal incomes at their business. Major Poore, of the Boston Journal is among the most successful. He has a clerkship of $1,800 a year in the Senate to start upon, add to this two or three first-class newspapers, and the Major can as well afford his carriage as most of our Cabinet Ministers. He is the oldest of the active newspaper correspondents, and is one of the very best. "Agate" of the Cincinnati Gazette has won a wide reputation during the last ten years. His name is Whitelaw Reid, and he is Librarian of the House of Representatives. He is a terse and fearless writer, and is so fond of smashing crockery that he does not always take care of the pantries of his friends. Bartlett, of the New York Evening Post, Painter, of the Philadelphia Enquirer, Adams of the New York World, etc., are fixtures in Washington, and have long been known as newspaper men. Major Poore has been here some twenty years, Bartlett, nearly ten—the others generally a smaller time. But I must not waste my space in this personal episode. I was led off by thinking of Mr. Bowles' overland correspondence which has been very popular here.

The excitement of a week ago, in reference to French matters, has died out. The announcement from the other side of the water, that Louis Napoleon is intending to gradually withdraw the French troops from Mexico, gives great satisfaction to the State Department.

This was the only disagreement between the two Governments. Let France withdraw her troops and if Maximilian can hold his position without further aid from abroad this Government will not forcibly interfere with him. This undoubtedly is the tacit understanding with Louis Napoleon. I do not mean for one moment to insinuate that Mr. Seward has entered into any agreement with the French Government on this point for he has been careful from the first to keep clear of any admission that France has any right in Mexico.

A few days since a prominent Washingtonian went to Gen. Grant and asked his opinion on the situation. "Is there any danger of a war with France on account of Mexican affairs?" The reply was prompt. "Not the least danger in the world." The General went on to say that his own way would be to tell Maximilian to get out of Mexico, "but," he added, "you know I am no statesman. I am only a soldier, and I've no doubt the Government is taking a wise course [illegible] and will be all the same."

The President has certainly come to the conclusion that the freedmen in many of the Southern States must be fed during the coming winter. A few days ago Henry Ward Beecher and two other Philadelphia gentlemen in New York came on here and had an interview with the President on the subject of the freedmen. They made a very strong statement respecting the condition of the freedmen at the South. It seems that in three or four of those States there is not food enough to last till the first of February for whites and blacks. This statement is made after a careful estimate by the freedmen's bureau of the amount of food in those States. It follows that a majority must starve unless help comes from abroad.

The President called in the Secretary of War and it was decided to feed the freedmen, as [illegible] the poor white rebels though [illegible] a year ago. Where the power is, [illegible] know thus to tax the country, but the President declared that as long as there was money in the Treasury the freedmen should not starve. "They are the wards of the nation," said the President, alluding to the freedmen. Mr. Stanton went further and declared that they were wards in chancery.

Some other things were agreed to. The negro is to have peremptory rights. The law makes no distinction of color and the President will see to it that no body interferes between the freedmen and the land which is open to the emptor. There are millions of such lands in Florida and there are more in Texas. The President says he will guarantee to the black man his right with the white man to settle on these lands. It is an important step and Mr. Beecher and his companions were astonished that the President agreed to their propositions so readily. They found him to be a most humane man as well as a shrewd politician. All this does not look very much as if he was "Tylerized."

The news is received here this morning that Preston King, Collector of the port of New York is dead—has committed suicide. It probably created great sensation, as Mr. King has been [illegible] the most [illegible] friend [illegible] was very [illegible] King, should [illegible] the office till [illegible].

[illegible] New York [illegible]
last night, [illegible] had ever [illegible] in the [illegible] as her [illegible] the value of [illegible] beyond [illegible] remark [illegible] the male [illegible] half [illegible] growing lighter [illegible] Wall street [illegible] news of the [illegible] of town [illegible] subjoined upon the [illegible] we extract [illegible] late date and [illegible] sign of the times [illegible] than the internal [illegible] desire for [illegible] display [illegible] last ending. They [illegible] wanton [illegible] without a thought [illegible] degrees to the taste [illegible] poetry [illegible] the men who have so recently [illegible] the battle-field [illegible] reproach to every woman in the land [illegible] sustenance the wicked [illegible] The [illegible] of the purest appear side by side [illegible] in the social assemblage and the public [illegible] There is [illegible] to distinguish between the true and the false [illegible] at which all bow down [illegible] good character are alike [illegible] In the name of that refinement and [illegible] which ought [illegible] to the crumbling character [illegible] womanhood, we call for the staying of this [illegible] recklessness. Among the looked for results [illegible] it was hoped that the country would be purged [illegible] obedience to the mandates of Parisian [illegible] [illegible] year the follies of [illegible] fashion [illegible] attend at special displays [illegible] more refined [illegible] of French [illegible] really the [illegible] the fashion that [illegible] slavishly adopted in this [illegible] With scarcely a thought they yielded [illegible] to a land which [illegible] morals, religion, political and social life, [illegible] the least of all in climate [illegible] did not seem that so much of indulgent recklessness and profuse display could possibly survive the end of a great war. And when our literature came [illegible] the ordeal [illegible] with [illegible] life and studies [illegible] there was cause for hope that the taste and habits of [illegible] of the land would also be of a purer and more [illegible] character. How [illegible] was the hope the [illegible] of the past summer and the great rush and displays of the fashionable [illegible] [illegible] indeed, a danger to all of us and every interest [illegible] that it be fairly met before it shall be too late.

[illegible] to Death.—Mr S. Kohlberg, of the firm of [illegible] & Kohlberg, was among those who left the [illegible] to reach this city on foot. The party [illegible] without interruption until Thursday last. On [illegible] Mr Kohlberg, Mr John Bloom, Mr Chas [illegible] O'Connor and a gentleman whose name we [illegible] who accompanied Mr Kohlberg, left the [illegible], travelling all day without anything to eat [illegible] Mr Kohlberg had fallen into a stream [illegible] and became wet to the waist. Travelling was slow on account of the bad condition of the [illegible] the circumstance above mentioned made it [illegible] Mr K. Fearing they would not reach a house [illegible] party began traveling more hurriedly, and [illegible] was left in the rear. It became dark, [illegible] the snow, and rendering progress un[illegible] at length, Messrs. Bloom, White and Con[illegible] barn, and were soon joined by the gen[illegible] [illegible] Mr Kohlberg. Here they re[illegible], without food and by dint of exercise [illegible]. The following morning, Friday, Mr [illegible] made his appearance, and after the party had [illegible] near by, assistance was procured, and the [illegible] Mr Kohlberg went back to look for him [illegible] about two miles beyond the house (known [illegible]) frozen to death. His lower limbs, face [illegible] were frozen perfectly stiff. News of the sad [illegible] this city on Saturday, and two teams were [illegible] sent out to bring the remains into town for [illegible] Mr Kohlberg had been on a trip to Owyhee, [illegible] with the business of his firm in this city [illegible] will probably arrive here to-day.

[illegible]—We are informed by Capt Powell that [illegible] have reached the Dalles safely, but to do so [illegible] compelled to travel through a very rough country [illegible] broke their way through snow four feet [illegible] they will be mustered out of service as [illegible] arrive at Vancouver, which will be on the [illegible] of unpleasant travel. The boys have [illegible] and when they return here it is [illegible] reception. This is right, we hope they [illegible] be just as enthusiastically as though [illegible] returned from the deepest of the late struggle [illegible] that our people were very anxious [illegible] volunteer, and the quota of this county [illegible] thus taking a load off the shoulders of [illegible]. Now they return, out of employment [illegible] they should be greeted with open arms [illegible] the care that soldiers on the Pacific coast [illegible] bravely, but let Portland see if she will not [illegible] exception to this kind of thing.

[illegible] Trees.—On Saturday evening various of the [illegible] of the city, and numerous parlors were trim[illegible], and the form of distributing presents from [illegible] trees was gone through with. These occasions [illegible] the hearts of the little ones, and turn the [illegible] many an adult back to the time when they [illegible] The distribution of presents this [illegible] in accordance with the common custom, [illegible] generally observed than ever before, and [illegible] gifts have been bestowed to other than [illegible] children and the youthful members of the [illegible] who, presenting their compliments to [illegible] with a wish for a "merry christmas," [illegible] the same with some token of their [illegible] no time during the round of the calendar [illegible] to these things as Christmas. No time [illegible] of youth can mingle with the mirth and [illegible] so feasibly. We hope to see many a [illegible], and yet we expect to see few better [illegible] evening last in this city.

[illegible].—From noon on Saturday up to [illegible] a large number of persons who had started [illegible] the Dalles a week ago, were arriving in [illegible]. They all agree in pronouncing the trip the [illegible] which they have suffered the most, of any [illegible] and some with whom we have conversed [illegible] have been familiar with winter traveling [illegible] years. There is no very great depth [illegible] blasts are cold and piercing, and [illegible] suffering. In rounding some of the points [illegible] these travelers have been obliged to [illegible] their hands, and assert that it would be [illegible] an animal around them. Mr H. Mc[illegible] between Canyon City and the Dalles, [illegible] O Lewis and J Croucher, from Canyon City [illegible] traveling to the Dalles was accomplished [illegible] than that experienced in reaching this city [illegible]. Mr Charles Horsum of Owyhee, [illegible] with a team of four horses, on Thursday [illegible], and drove them to the Dalles, reaching the [illegible] in safety without any apparent suffering. [illegible] the Dalles on foot for this city, being anxious to [illegible] supplied to return with, and he states that [illegible] worst he has ever experienced.

[illegible] Frozen In.—Mr Wm. Withworth and [illegible] Neffsinger, who reached this city on Saturday [illegible] the Dalles, overland, were among the passen[illegible] steamer Owyhee, leaving Umatilla on Friday [illegible] the 8th inst. There were all of 100 passengers [illegible] including several families, and among them [illegible] children. The steamer was caught in the [illegible] miles below Umatilla, and could not proceed down. After laying there all night the [illegible] were landed and conveyances sent for to take [illegible] and children back to Umatilla. A large [illegible] passengers also went back to Umatilla, the [illegible] coming on to the Dalles and this city. Messrs [illegible] and Neffsinger, with several others, left the [illegible] Sunday the 17th for Portland.

[illegible].—On Saturday last a man was found [illegible] in the river near the Willamette Iron Works [illegible] on [illegible] pantaloons and with the exception [illegible] and hat was dressed throughout. An inquest [illegible] the remains by Justice Anderson went to show [illegible] deceased was [illegible] of the 14th Infantry [illegible] Captain [illegible] a company of California Volunteers [illegible] been out of work about [illegible], assisting [illegible] a vessel, and was supposed to have drowned while [illegible] the influence of liquor. He was buried at the [illegible] of the county, and it is not known who he was, or [illegible] he had friends in the country. He was [illegible] about 5 feet 8 inches high, smooth face, and [illegible] complexion.

[illegible] Weather.—The merry jingle, jingle, jingle of [illegible] has concluded. On Saturday those pleasure [illegible] who depended upon snow, looked grimly [illegible] slush or [illegible] formed by a warm rain [illegible] [illegible] a dream of fancy. There is not now enough snow [illegible] the ground to [illegible] a runner, but if as indicated [illegible] it should freeze [illegible] [illegible] the sport which now seems [illegible].

[illegible] Theatre.—There was a good audience [illegible] numbers and respectability at Willamette [illegible] on Saturday night, and the bill rendered by the [illegible] [illegible] the interest [illegible] the article [illegible] an interest [illegible] the play [illegible] Mr Ward and [illegible] excellent company [illegible] bill is offered that will richly repay all who may [illegible] themselves of [illegible]

[illegible].—A man named Clark, while intoxicated [illegible] the walk on the East side of the Columbia [illegible] at four o'clock yesterday morning, and was [illegible] from perishing by Mr [illegible] Coakley, watch [illegible] the hotel, who was attracted to the spot by the [illegible] groans of the unfortunate fellow. The fall [illegible] was full twenty-five feet, and it is a wonder [illegible] was not killed. Coakley brought [illegible] these human wrecks of liquor.

[illegible].—The Marshal's Brass Band paid their [illegible] to Mr A J Richardson the [illegible] on Saturday last, playing some eight or ten select [illegible] he had bought at the [illegible] corner of Oak and First streets. Mr R [illegible] compliment [illegible] manner and then [illegible] with a very spirited sale for the day.

[illegible].—The steamer Active left for Victoria on Saturday [illegible] The Cascade also left for St. Helens with passengers [illegible] the Pacific which sailed that evening for San [illegible]

[illegible] Lecture.—M F Mulkey, Esq., will [illegible] to-morrow evening in accordance with [illegible], at the M. E. Church, being the [illegible] of [illegible] the benefit of the Sunday school library.

[illegible]—No paper will be issued from this office [illegible]

Presents and Organs.—Do you want some of the best canned fruit in the United States? If so, call at W F Williams on the East side of First between Oak and Pine. He has the article.

Vacation.—This being holiday week, a vacation intervenes at the Portland Academy and Female Seminary.

For San Francisco.—It will be seen by advertisement that the bark Jane A. Falkenburg will sail for San Francisco day after to-morrow.

For Astoria.—The steamer John H. Couch, Capt. [illegible], will leave to-day for Astoria.

The Lost Franklin Expedition.—Dr. John Rae has written the following letter to the London Telegraph of October 31st:

Sir: The startling information that has recently reached the country from the Arctic regions, to the effect that there may be three survivors of the lost Franklin expedition, took me, as it must have done almost every one else, by surprise. Hall's letter is a curious one, but from the circumstances under which it is said to have been written, it serves every indulgence, and we must wait with patience for the promised details, which are to throw farther light on this painful subject. In the meantime I will venture to make a few observations on Hall's communication.

Hall's letter is dated from his farthest north point, I fancy, a point well known to me, as I passed it four several times in my boats, and which is about 120 English miles nearly due south of my winter quarters at Repulse Bay, where I spent the seasons of 1846-7 and 1853, having with me on both occasions efficient Esquimaux interpreters, one of whom spoke English fluently. During the first season, we had constant and friendly communication with the natives, and heard from them many things regarding Parry's and Ross' expeditions, part of which I easily proved to be correct by a perusal of the narratives of the expeditions, and part by personal communication with the distinguished explorers themselves after my return to England, as the natives had noticed and remembered many little incidents which had not been thought worthy of record in a journal. By this means I tested the truthfulness of the Esquimaux and the efficiency of the interpreter.

In 1854 I had, during two months of Spring while at Winter quarters, constant communication with the Esquimaux both of Repulse and Pelly Bays, several of the latter having come to visit us. I had previously seen these last at Pelly Bay itself—discovered and named by me in 1847—when traveling northward in 1851.

The Esquimaux one and all at and of both of these places, assured us they knew of no white man living among them, and that all the "whites" or "Kabloonas" had perished at least four years before. I offered them large rewards of saws, knives, files, and in fact, everything they most valued, to be paid them at once, and promises of much greater supplies afterward, if they could tell of any living white man, or could bring us to where he was or him to us. But the answer was all the same: "We know of none."

While I believe the Esquimaux to be usually truthful and correct in repeating or giving information, when they have an object to gain many of them very readily have recourse to fictions, which have the appearance of truth until subjected to cross questioning, which I have invariably found exposed the falsehood. These falsehoods were never sustained or told by any great number of the natives; whereas, in the case of a fact they were all agreed, and no amount of cross-questioning could affect their statements in the slightest degree.

I do not know how Hall gets at his dates so readily. Although I had been only seven years away from Repulse Bay, the Esquimaux, when asked how long it had been since I had seen him before, could never give a correct reply. It is also said that the "cousin" refused Crozier's gun when offered to him, as "he was afraid it would kill him" (the cousin). None of the Esquimaux I saw were afraid to use a gun, but, on the contrary, were anxious to possess one. Indeed, I gave an Esquimaux a gun and ammunition at Repulse Bay, in 1847, and before a week was over he and others could shoot well with it. This gun I found with the natives in 1854, in excellent condition, and was happy to learn that it had been the means of saving the lives of his family during a season of famine, when many others perished. He had still a horn full of powder perfectly good, although kept for seven years, but had no shot or ball. I left another gun and a large supply of ammunition with these good people in 1854.

The fight that Crozier is said to have had with the "Indians," not "Innuit," must be a fable. All the Indians he could possibly meet with on his southward journey are friendly, and would have been only too happy if they had had an opportunity to bring him safely to the nearest Hudson's Bay Company's establishment, so as to receive the large reward promised them for aiding any white man they might meet. Besides, if Crozier had got so far south as to meet Indians, it is not likely he would have gone back hundreds of miles to the north again.

In offering these remarks, I do not wish to detract in the slightest degree from the great energy, perseverance and pluck shown by Hall, who may, I trust, be able to accomplish all, and more than all, his letter promises; but his difficulties were only about to begin, for hitherto he had been among semi-civilized Esquimaux. To the north west of Repulse Bay he will not find them so agreeable to travel among, although perhaps not inimical. I am, sir, yours, etc.,

JOHN RAE.

Kirkwall, Orkney, Oct. 23d.

The Tower of Babel, on which late accounts announce that a cross was recently placed by a missionary, consists now of only two of the eight stories formerly erected. The remains are, however, visible from a very great distance. Each side of the quadrangular basis measures two hundred yards in length, and the bricks of which it is composed are of the pure white clay, with a very slight brownish tint, which in the sun assumes a wonderfully rich hue. The bricks, before being baked, were covered with characters traced with the hand in a clear and regular style. The bitumen which served for cement was derived from a fountain which still exists near the tower, and which flows with such abundance that it soon forms a stream, and would invade the neighboring river did not the natives at times set fire to the stream of bitumen and then wait quietly until the flames cease for want of aliment. All these particulars will doubtless interest those unfortunates who are now studying living or dead languages.

Education.—Those are truly well bred, not only whose understanding and discerning faculties are improved and enlarged, but especially whose natural rudeness and stubbornness is broken, and wild and unruly passions tamed, whose affections and desires are made governable and orderly, who are become manageable and flexible, calm and tractable, willing to endure restraints and to live according to the best rules. By good education we are, as it were, made over again, the roughness of our natural tempers is filed off and all their defects supplied, and prudent discipline, good example and wise counsel, our manners are so formed that, by the benefit of a happy education we come almost as much to excel other men, as they do the brute beasts that have no understanding.—Dr. Calamy's Sermons.

Funeral of Lord Palmerston.—An English paper states that at the funeral of Lord Palmerston in Westminster Abbey, London, when the officiating Dean pronounced the words "dust to dust, ashes to ashes," over the grave, the chief mourner, as a last precious offering to the dead, threw into the grave several diamond and gold rings. The vault was so constructed that it would not permit of the throwing in of any earth at the most solemn portion of the funeral service. To some it appeared that the traditional solemnity of the grave suffered when the dread words "ashes to ashes, dust to dust," when not accompanied by the usual symbolic sprinkling of earth on the coffin, and the chief mourner responded by casting the rings into the grave.

Liberty of the Press in the Sixteenth Century.—Some old manuscripts in the Bibliotheque Imperial include a decree signed by Charles IX, on the 10th of September, 1563, which gives an excellent idea of the situation of the press at Lyons in the sixteenth century. It is as follows: "It is forbidden to publish or print any work or writing, in rhyme or prose, without the previous authorization of our lord the King, under pain of being hanged or strangled." Another clause says: "Three times every year a visit shall be made to the shops and printing houses of the printers and booksellers of Lyons by two trustworthy persons belonging to the Church, one representing the Archbishop and the other the chapter of the said city, and they shall be accompanied by the seneschal of Lyons."

A Good Record.—The Cunard steamship line began its transit across the ocean in 1840, twenty five years ago. During that time its ships have made 2,160 passages, have passed over more than seven millions of miles of route, have carried four hundred thousand passengers, and never have failed to sail on the appointed day; have never lost a passenger by any conduct of their own. No injury has ever occurred to a passenger from accident to, or from the machinery, and the company have never lost a letter they have carried.

A correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette suggests flogging by machinery. We understand that America intends to adopt the plan with a view to carrying out its long promise of whipping creation.—Punch.

The Eight Hour Demonstration.—The working men of Washington, D. C., had a grand procession on the night of the 1st ultimo. They carried torches and transparencies, with appropriate mottoes to illustrate the object of their [illegible] movement, viz: Eight hours for a [illegible] day's work. Their line was about a mile in length. Some of the trades, such as carpenters [illegible], boiler and steam engine makers, blacksmiths and painters—gave practical exhibitions of their respective vocations, while the printers worked off a [illegible] in advocacy of the eight hour system. A [illegible] full rigged, with men on board, was among the prominent objects of interest [illegible]. Thousands of people lined the streets through which the procession passed. In the line, the Columbia Typographical Society, numbering between 300 and 400 men, [illegible] represented. On top of the [illegible] was a press worked by boys, who printed and distributed poems in rhyme.

A writer in the New York Evening Post is severe upon some fashionable freaks in pronunciation, and says pungently: "A countryman early in this country to the question, 'Why do you say ither and nither?' is that the words are so pronounced by the best educated people in England: a short and proper rejoinder to which reply is that the statement is not true, for certainly it is not. That is to say, a majority of the best English usage is not on that side of the question."

Reflection.—The habit of reflecting gives an inner life, which all that we see animates and enkindles. In this disposition of the soul every thing becomes an object of thought. If the young botanist trembles with joy at the sight of a new plant, the moral botanist joys no less to stumble upon around him truths with a much superior prize to that of an unknown flower.

It often amuses me to hear men impute all their misfortunes to fate, bad luck or destiny, while their success or good fortune they ascribe to their own sagacity, cleverness or penetration. It seems to such minds that light and darkness are one and the same, one emanating from and being part of the same nature.—Coleridge.

It is said that Jefferson Davis lately asked an officer at Fortress Monroe whether he thought the people of the North desired his execution. The officer replied that he had been so long on duty he could not speak for those at home, but the army was unanimous in the sentiment that he should be hanged! Consoling!

The Postmaster General now finds that the firm or postmasters of the Old Dominion repudiated their debts to Uncle Sam to a greater extent than those of any other of the rebel States. It is only one of the many evidences that the decayed aristocracy of Virginia had degenerated till it constitutes the meanest element in the population of the country.

Buchanan.—Ex-President Buchanan is said to be engaged in revising the last proofs of the history of his administration, a work that will undoubtedly give rise to a good deal of controversy and perhaps shed a new light upon some doubtful points.

No Disease without a Remedy.—A kind Providence has placed at the disposal of His intelligent creatures all the remedies requisite for the relief of such diseases as He permits to afflict mankind. Among the gravest in this category are those of the Chest and Lungs. After tough and patient investigation into the character and treatment of these affections, has resulted in the selection and approval by the more intelligent of the present day, of Newell's Pulmonary Syrup, the use of which is synonymous with speedy relief and health. Consumptives, try it.

Many Cases of Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, and indeed of Chronic Disease generally, seem not curable by ordinary medical treatment, however skillful. For this reason the undersigned has made arrangements for the treatment of this class of diseases, by which the patient may have the benefit of Dr Langston Parker's method of treatment by fumigations; the use of many of the mineral and saline waters; baths in sea water; general and local baths of water, heated air and simple and medicated vapor, in addition to such other medical or surgical treatment as may be indicated.

Christmas Bells.

I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

And thought how as the day had come,
The belfries of all Christendom
Had rolled along
The unbroken song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

Then from each black accursed mouth
The cannon thundered in the South,
And with the sound
The carols drowned
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

It was as if an earthquake rent
The hearth-stones of a continent,
And made forlorn
The households born
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

And in despair I bowed my head:
"There is no peace on earth," I said;
"For hate is strong
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!"

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep,
God is not dead; nor doth He sleep;
The Wrong shall fail,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

CHOLERA.—The "Asiatic cholera," as first known in this country in 1832 and 1833, is chiefly a disease prevailing in warm weather, or, rather, in a warm atmosphere, for it can be created at any season, and in the coldest latitudes by combining the three essential requisites, namely, moisture, vegetable decay, and a regular heat exceeding eighty degrees. The great and distinguishing feature of cholera is a copious, frequent and painful discharge from the bowels of a substance almost as thin as water, with a whitish tinge, as if rice had been washed in it, or as if a little milk had been dropped in it. When this begins the patient begins to perspire profusely, the skin assumes a leaden hue, and shrivels up—the nails become blue, insufferable cramps come on, and the victim's death occurs in a few hours with the most perfect calmness, in the fullest possession of all the faculties, and absolute freedom from pain.

Three things ought to be known in reference to cholera by every human being.

First. The writer has never known a case in which it was not preceded, for one, two, or more days, by the bowels acting twice, or oftener in every twenty-four hours, universally styled "the premonitory symptoms."

Second. A cure is impossible under any conceivable circumstances, without absolute quietude of body, on a bed, for days together; the time of confinement being shortened in proportion to the promptitude with which the quietude is secured after the first action on the bowels has taken place, which gives a feeling of tiredness, and, on sitting down, a sensation of rest and satisfaction.

Third. When the patient ceases to urinate he begins to die, and its resumption is a certain index of recovering health, and always infallible.

One of the usual attendants of an attack of cholera is an unconquerable tendency to vomit. The very instant anything reaches the stomach, even if it is but cold water, it is ejected; the mildest food meets the same fate in such cases; much less will medicine find a lodgment, except one, and that it is impossible to vomit up if it once reaches its destination. That medicine has no taste, it is small in bulk, will retain its virtues for a quarter of a century, as the writer knows by personal experience and repeated observation. Unless it is in the very last stages, it is believed capable of arresting the disease in nine cases out of ten: a pill made up of ten grains of calomel with a little gum water. If the symptoms do not abate in two hours, double the dose, and let it work itself off. Do nothing else, but let the patient be quiet, and eat all the ice he can possibly want.—Hall's Journal of Health.

LETTER FROM D. L. YULEE, OF FLORIDA.—The following letter, written by Senator Yulee, of Florida, in January, 1861, has just come to light:

WASHINGTON, January 5, 1861.

My Dear Sir: One immediate, important thing to be done is the occupation of the forts and arsenals in Florida. The naval station and forts at Pensacola are first in consequence. For this a force is necessary. I have conferred with Toombs upon the subject. He will start this week to Georgia, and says if the Convention or Governor will ask Governor Brown of Georgia for a force he will immediately send an efficient force and take the [illegible] yard and forts.

The occupation of the navy yard will give us a good supply of ordnance and make the capture of the [illegible]. [illegible] Chase built the forts and will [illegible] all about [illegible]. Lose no time, for in my opinion the troops [illegible] very soon dispatched to reinforce [illegible] the forts in Florida. [illegible] to be looked to, [illegible] the [illegible] of arms. [illegible] of all the Southern [illegible] Kentucky and [illegible] follow. [illegible] possible organization [illegible] and of a Southern [illegible]. The [illegible] rapidly consolidating [illegible] upon [illegible] force. A [illegible] make, [illegible] with Jeff Davis [illegible] them to a [illegible].

Have a Southern Government as soon as possible, adopting the present Federal Constitution for the time, and a Southern army. I repeat this because it is the important policy.

Virginia and Maryland and Tennessee are rapidly coming up to the work. God speed you.

I shall give the enemy a shot next week before retiring. I say enemy! Yes! I am theirs and they are mine.

I am willing to be [illegible] but not their brethren. [illegible] D. L. YULEE.

[illegible] Yard and forts [illegible]

Mr. Yulee complains that he gets no pardon!

The famous Kit Carson and Colonel Bent visited General Pope at St. Louis lately. The Evening News says Kit was dressed in a [illegible] uniform, with rather broad shoulder-straps, and his dark hair, sprinkled with gray, flowed down upon his shoulders a la waterfall. He wore rather a broad brimmed felt, and altogether presented the appearance of a sturdy little man, destitute of all pretensions. Colonel Carson served as a Brigadier General in the Mexican war under General Crocker.

A negro soldier, who has been to the front fighting the rebels, lately returned to his home in his native State, proudly bringing his gun with him. He was brought before a magistrate, fined and deprived of his gun, for transgressing a law of the State, which provides that no negro shall be allowed to have a gun.

General Frank Cheatham said in his application for pardon: "You know well, Mr. President, who I am, and what I have done. I am sorry, and if you will pardon me I will be a faithful citizen henceforward."

THE STANDARD

AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES!

AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS.

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENtion of persons wishing Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above Tables, manufactured exclusively at their establishment.

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first-class players of America, it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship, as the best and only reliable tables.

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have invariably pronounced them unequalled for general excellence and durability.

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions.

We employ, in the construction of our tables, a variety of machines specially made for the purpose, by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards, and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch.

The eminent French Billiard Player, M. Berger, has published the following opinion:

"NEW YORK, 20 August, 1861.

"On the eve of leaving the United States, I am happy to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to judge in a satisfactory manner of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender. The system of manufacturing is so superior, that I am happy to introduce their style and construction in France. They have united in their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty. For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration.

"BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof. of Billiards, Paris."

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first-class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price.

Orders by mail carefully and promptly executed. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists sent by mail. The "Billiard Cue," a journal published in the interest of Billiards, and containing details of all novelties, a complete record of Billiard news, and everything of interest to amateurs of Billiards, sent free on application.

M. E. HUGHES,
730 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal., is our only authorized Agent on the Pacific coast, to whom all orders should be addressed.

Ordinance No. 283.

AN ORDINANCE to prevent persons carrying fire arms or deadly weapons of any kind within the Corporate limits of the City.

The City of Portland does Ordain as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to carry any fire-arms or deadly weapons of any kind in a concealed manner within the Corporate limits of the City.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the Marshal, or any of his Deputies to arrest any person carrying such concealed weapons.

Sec. 3. Peace officers shall be exempt from the provisions of this Ordinance as regards to the carrying of such fire-arms or weapons.

Sec. 4. Any person violating Section 1 of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction before the Recorder, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten (10) dollars nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, or by imprisonment in the City Jail not less than five (5) days nor more than twenty (20) days, at the discretion of the Recorder.

Passed the Common Council, December 5, 1865.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions to the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivaled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions, Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once restored, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy; and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to.

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
